

Oriental Remedial Therapies

Chinese cupping uses gentle vacuum pressure to release blockages throughout the body and increase Qi flow and circulation.

Moxibustion uses the herb Mugwort, which is lit producing a nurturing heat that is applied to various acupressure points throughout the body's meridian system, to induce the smooth flow of Qi and blood, preventing disease and maintaining health.

